Book-Banning: A Writer's Viewpoint

Kathie Giorgio, the author of 15 books, including novels, short story collections, essays, and poetry, is no stranger to the banning of literature. Her earliest experience was in high school when parents protested her short story inclusion in the school's literary magazine. Recently Giorgio, who is on the "Wall of Stars" as an honored alumna of Waukesha North High School, found out her books had been banned from Waukesha Public Schools, as part of a sweep that removed many authors from the shelves. Giorgio will talk about the effects of book-banning on students, the public, and authors. WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5

Time: 1:00-2:30 pm: Q&A: 2:30-3:00 pm

Presenter: Kathie Giorgio

Course Fee: $8.00

The Incomparable Hildegarde 1950-2005

As the great Paul Harvey used to say "and now for the rest of the story." Learn about Hildegarde's life and career as she continued to perform regularly through the mid-1980s. In 1997 she was photographed by Annie Leibovitz for Vanity Fair magazine.

Wednesday, March 12

Time: 1:00-2:15 pm

Presenter: Jean Kaldunski

Course Fee: $10.00

Commercial Fishing, Sustainable Sourcing & Your Body on Omega-3s

Adra Kusnirova is a fishmonger and owner of Alaska Fresh, a national online seafood store based in Butler, WI. Originally from Brookfield, Adra spent many summers in remote Alaska learning about commercial fishing while her husband ran a salmon processing plant. She will share tips on how to buy sustainably harvested seafood, delve into what "sustainable" actually means, and share health benefits and cooking tips for wild Alaskan seafood. Please submit any questions in advance to CFE so she can touch on your topic during her talk. Some Alaskan product will be on hand for sale on the day of discussion.

TUESDAY, MARCH 25

Time: 1:00-2:30

Presenter: Adra Kusnirov. Adra will be fresh off her Boston trip, where she attended The Seafood Expo North America. She will share what she learned at the expo as well as the latest trends in commercial fishing.

Course Fee: $12.00 Members

*This class open to guests without a membership fee required, cost $12.00.
